INVESTMENT SCAM

Scammers promise high returns in fake investment schemes like crypto, stocks, or real estate. They disappear after you deposit money.

- Always verify the investment company.
- Avoid schemes that guarantee profits.
- Don't trust Social Media Groups /Ads

WHATSAPP SCAM

Scammers send you an OTP “by mistake” to your WhatsApp, then ask you to forward it. This way scammers hack your WhatsApp account, get access to your messages, personal info, and intercept future OTPs.

- Never share your OTPs, even if the message sounds urgent or friendly.
- WhatsApp will never ask for verification through chat.

DIGITAL ARREST

You get a video call from someone pretending to be a police officer or a government official, threatening legal action. They demand money to “settle” the case.

- No govt. official asks for money over a call.
- Hang up and report immediately.

REFUND SCAM

You receive a fake call or message saying you are eligible for a refund. They ask for your bank/ card details or OTP. Once shared, your account may be drained.

- No refund needs your OTP or PIN.
- Double-check before sharing anything.

PART-TIME JOB SCAM

You're offered easy online jobs but asked to pay a “training” or “registration” fee. Once you pay, the job and the scammer disappear.

- No real job asks for money.
- Report and walk away.

CYBER SLAVERY

Scammers offer jobs abroad with great salaries, then send victims to work in illegal scam call centres. Many are held against their will.

- Verify foreign job offers through official portals like MEA or embassy websites.

SEXTORTION

Fraudsters trick you into sharing private images or record video calls, then blackmail you for money. This often starts as casual flirting.

- Attend unknown video calls carefully.
- Never share intimate content online.
- If threatened, don't pay & report immediately.

DATING APP SCAM

Scammers create fake profiles to build trust, and then ask for money or private information. They may emotionally manipulate or blackmail you.

- Never send money or personal details to someone you've only met online.
- In case of inappropriate messages, report them immediately.

INSTANT LOAN SCAM

Fake apps or websites offer instant loans, then steal personal data or trap you in high-interest repayments. Some even access your phone contacts and threaten you.

- Use RBI-approved apps only.
- Never share PAN, OTP, or Aadhar with unverified sources.

MONEY TRANSFER FRAUD

You receive money “by mistake” and are asked to send it back. But the original amount was sent using stolen cards or hacked accounts.

- Call your bank to check your account balance.
- Don't send money based on a phone call.

FAKE GAMING APPS

Some gaming apps hide malware or spyware to steal your data or track your activity. They may offer fake prizes to extract information.

- Download from trusted app stores only.
- Check reviews and app permissions.
